Roland Announces VMH-S100 Roland Studio Headphones

Premium Studio Headphones Specifically Crafted for Musicians, Producers, and Sound Creators

Anaheim, CA, January 21, 2025 — Roland announces the VMH-S100 headphones, a premium monitoring solution for music production. These finely tuned headphones combine unparalleled sound fidelity, exceptional comfort, and modern engineering to elevate the creative experience. Perfectly suited for daily use in production, sound design, and mixing, the VMH-S100 sets a new benchmark in professional headphones.

Equipped with custom-engineered 50 mm drivers, the VMH-S100 headphones deliver a flat and accurate sound profile for critical listening. Offering an ultra-wide frequency response of 5–40,000 Hz, they reproduce every sonic nuance from the deepest bass to the most detailed high frequencies. The closed-back design provides isolation from ambient noise while maintaining an open and immersive soundstage, making these headphones an ideal choice for focused work in any studio setting.

The versatile VMH-S100 integrates seamlessly with professional music gear. A 30-ohm impedance ensures compatibility with a variety of devices, from synthesizer keyboards to audio interfaces and mobile workstations. Each ear cup has a jack for the detachable cable, letting the user connect to the side that works best for their current setup.

Additionally, the ergonomic design features replaceable ear pads and a durable frame for maximum comfort during extended sessions.

Accessories include a carrying pouch, two cables (1.5 m and 3 m), and a stereo 1/4-inch phone plug adaptor.

A VMH-S100 purchase includes a three-month trial of Roland Cloud Ultimate, the top tier of Roland's cloud-based suite of software instruments and sound tools for modern creators. New VMH-S100 owners can kickstart their next project with a growing range of premium content, including instruments like GALAXIAS, ZENOLOGY, and the Roland Legendary series, Zenbeats music creation software, sound packs, jam tracks, and much more.
