Roland Announces Aerophone Pro Gold Limited Edition

Commemorative Model Celebrates 10 Years of Digital Wind Instrument Innovation

Hamamatsu, Japan, October 8, 2026 — Roland announces the Aerophone Pro Gold Limited Edition, a milestone release that commemorates a decade of innovation with the company's trailblazing digital wind platform. First introduced in 2016, the Roland Aerophone series has opened a new world of creative possibilities for wind players, and the Aerophone Pro model represents the pinnacle of Roland's advanced wind technology. The Aerophone Pro Gold Limited Edition is a special version of the flagship model with a premium finish and a suite of additions.

Compared with the standard Aerophone Pro model's attractive silver-and-black finish, the Aerophone Pro Gold Limited Edition conveys a distinctively elegant look with its Anniversary Gold finish and black trim. As an instrument, it offers the same premium features as the Aerophone Pro, including highly expressive playability, versatile performance capabilities, and a vast sonic palette powered by the acclaimed Roland wind sound engine.

Only 3000 Aerophone Pro Gold Limited Edition models will be produced. Each instrument comes with an exclusive carrying case emblazoned with the Aerophone 10th Anniversary logo, a numbered certificate, and a special letter from the Aerophone R&D team.

Since its debut, the Roland Aerophone platform has been adopted by a growing number of wind musicians worldwide, and the series has expanded to include a range of expressive instruments for all skill levels. Developed with input from professional wind players, each model offers a responsive playing interface and a versatile selection of sounds. Additional features include onboard Bluetooth for working with companion apps and playing along with music from mobile devices, built-in speakers, headphone outputs, MIDI connectivity, and more.

Along with Aerophone Pro, other models include the Aerophone AE-20 and the recently released Aerophone Brisa, a newly developed instrument with the styling and key layout of a traditional flute. Aerophone GO and the recorder-style Aerophone mini are ideal starter instruments, offering high-quality sound and simplified interfaces that provide a solid learning foundation for players of all ages.
